

What we do

Resibuild are an independent thought leadership team in the UK, helping the residential construction industry find workable solutions to common yet complex problems.

Why this event

We're inviting you to take part in our most expansive, wide-reaching event yet.

As we travel from Reading to Dublin, Belfast to Manchester and finally stopping in Leicester, we'll be bringing together some of the finest minds this industry has to offer.

Resibuild events are regularly being led across the world to discover, understand and educate the industry about the challenges faced around high rise residential construction.

Why you

Solving the ongoing industry puzzle means needing to search for the most exciting, most thought-provoking industry professionals all over the UK and Ireland. We're coming to you in order for your voices as architects, engineers, safety officers and decision makers to be truly heard.

Resibuild Events

Resibuild brings together another fantastic set of face-to-face events, aiming to bring together the most influential voices in the industry to share knowledge and ideas around our collective construction challenges.

ESG Presentation

Crucial to maintaining the sustainability of our industry, ESG is a topic we all need to be keenly aware of. In a presentation by Sapphire Balconies, we'll delve into the methods in which we can maintain the environmental, social and governing policies that affect us.

Innovations

Innovation drives the construction industry and in a showcase of the future of the external envelope, Sapphire Balconies will be presenting their latest industry-innovating development. By signing up to Resibuild's fantastic stop in Leicester, you'll be the first to learn more.

Thought Leadership

Resibuild events are at the forefront of thought leadership in our industry, confronting challenges with solutions. This event furthers this by bringing together key players to focus on the pressing issues of fire, pricing etc.

Networking

This event provides an opportunity to meet like-minded industry professionals with designated space to network along with refreshments and an excellent view from one of the cities iconic buildings.

Improving Our Industry

We're passionate about improving our industry and believe we can all play our part to mitigate the risks and improve future buildings. Through events like this and our involvement on BSI Committees, we hope to shape the industries standards of tomorrow in a practical way which is beneficial to everyone.
